Intel Log:

1. The date of the image is 3rd December, and Paris follows the CET Time Zone during winter, which is UTC+1.
2. The picture was taken after sunset, and the street lights seem to be operating, which can be understood by the orange/Yellow hue in the picture.
3. From the sunrise sunset calendar of Paris, we found that on Dec 3rd 2023, the sunset was at 4:56 pm CET. Confirming the night environment of the image.
4. Using Google Translate, we came to know that "Rue" in French means "Street", and from Cambridge Dictionary, Avenue (or l'avenue) are the wide, significantly urban streets that are lined with Trees.
5. We used Adobe Express to enhance the image and adjusted the color and tone of the image until we were able to read the name of the shop, i.e., "JULIEN" in the background.
6. From the image, we can see the building in the background is seven floors tall, where the shop Julien is on the first floor. And the seventh floor is lined with darker tile in comparison to the rest of the building.
7. From the image, we can also see that there is a Digital signboard and a Tree in front of Julien across the street.
8. From visual observation, we can also see that the street is lined with cobblestones.
9. We searched "Julien Paris" on "Google search" and after going through the images of several restaurants. The Images of "Maison Julien" were the most similar to the given image.
10. With all the available and collected information, along with "Google Street View" in "Google Maps," we were able to find the exact location of the image.

Visual Verification:

The following clues match precisely with the image: Cobblestone street, a seven-floor tall building which has Julian at floor one and darker tile on floor seven, a digital signboard, and a tree across the street from the building.
